	Speaker	Session
	John Parker Stewart	Keynote: Leading Through Influence: Building Leadership for Yourself, Your Team and Your Projects
	Jackie Barretta	Harnessing the power of emotions to fuel agility Drawing on the latest research, this session shows leaders how to control potentially damaging emotions, while triggering the kind of passion and energy that supercharge creativity and resilience.
	Diane Brady	ADKAR: A Model for Change It can be challenging, sometimes overwhelming, to prepare you and others, navigate through the chaotic transformation, and then sustain the effort going forward. The ADKAR model will provide a clear process to give you confidence to prepare and navigate through any change.
	Alan Cabelly	Who are you? Your style makes you a better leader Your behavioral style will help you understanding how you respond in tough situations. People with different styles also help you understand how they view you and where you can increase your success.
	Gus Cicala	Defining moments for projects and their leaders Gus Cicala is the president, CEO, and founder of Project Assistants. He is a Wharton Business School graduate with over thirty years of project management experience. He is acclaimed author of Project Management Using Microsoft Project 2013.
	Tom Cox	Protect and Push: How the Best Leaders Execute Strategy Tom will demonstrate the Leadership Ladder to expedite strategy execution. Attendees will evaluate three aspects of their own unique work style and assess the styles and motives of key stakeholders. In addition, you will obtain three weekly practices to accelerate strategy execution.
	Jake French	Igniting the Spark That Moves Everyone Forward It's the defining moments of our lives that often help others understand and relate to us. In Jake's interactive and fun-filled workshop, you can discover how and why your teammates process information and understand what drives their actions and attitudes.
	Steven Fulmer	The Reflection of Leadership In this workshop you will identify the hidden lesson of truly great leaders. Learn the single biggest secret to success and unveil the number one obstacle standing in the way of emerging leaders.
	Brad Hermanson	Fundamentals of Project Management This presentation distills project management life to the five absolute fundamentals of project management. These fundamentals are mostly behavioral in nature, and are a basic requirement for project management.
	Judi Jarosh	10 Things Gardening Has Taught Me About Project Management Judi Jarosh is a Global IT Leader at NACCO Materials Handling Group. She heads large global implementation projects and IT Risk Management & Compliance activities. Her work has taken her around the world and she's a lifelong PMI evangelist.
	Kevin McCarthy	Bare Naked Leadership Kevin McCarthy is a professional member of the National Speakers Association and a 30-year veteran entrepreneur, C-level executive, and national trainer.
	Tim Runcie	Effective Business Decisions with Key Metrics using Office 365 Technologies Come learn about how to build charts, graphs and visually effective reporting for project, program and portfolio managers using Office 365, Excel Services, SharePoint and Microsoft's PPM Platform.
	Chris Sheesley	Transform Conflicts into Opportunities for Growth Workplace conflict is often uncomfortable and messy. Because conflict occurs in almost every organization, savvy employers know that helping staff manage it not only boosts morale, it also improves productivity and efficiency.
