Thought for the Month

The economy is downright scary right now and we are seeing the results of the past months of economic uncertainty and down turn. Locally, we are beginning to see more and more of our colleagues and friends caught in layoffs and scarcity of jobs. We as a board are discussing how the Chapter can respond to provide a positive force in the project management community during this time of economic negativity.

PMI Portland Launches New Website

Our Chapter launched its new Web site on December 1st 2008. Online visitors and members will now experience a more vibrant and seamless view of the PMI Portland Chapter and its deep online resources. The new site will provide easy access to information on the activities and services of the Chapter as well as links to a variety of great resources. Among the information that will be displayed on our new site:

- New way to subscribe for Job Service (members only) (see page 9)
- New way to subscribe for Roundtables (see page 9)
- New ways to provide feedback
- Easier access to report PDUs
- Members only content
- A comprehensive form allowing non-members to join
- Stylish Event Calendar

Please keep in mind that the new site is still evolving. There may be flaws in the system that we have yet to uncover. There are also new features that are still in the planning stages. This is a volunteer organization, and we are relying on YOU to help us by reporting issues, problems, ideas, suggestions...and kudos! We are working nonstop to ensure that the new site is useful to your needs, and we appreciate your patience.

NOTE:

FEBRUARY meeting moved to 02/24/2009

The President's Corner

The holiday season is here—and as I expected is came in triple fast forward time. It seems to me that it should be about the middle of October not the beginning of December. We have had a very busy November with a special Chapter Meeting and the website migration.

The November Chapter meeting was one of our biggest turnouts and well received, based on our survey results. On a scale of 1 to 5, our average survey result from February 2007 is 4.25. The survey result for the November meeting was 4.48—and that was with the speaker's voice giving out because of a cold she picked up in her travels. We thank the Puget Sound Chapter for sharing this opportunity with us, ProjectCorps for sponsoring the meeting, the Programs and Marketing volunteer teams for making it happen, and thank you for supporting the opportunity.

Our December Chapter meeting promises to be just as interesting with Ken Hartley, one of our distinguished PMI Portland Chapter members presenting "Project Control in an International Environment." Ken has been active in both chapter and global level activities since 1974. He is a PMI Fellow, PMI's highest and most prestigious award that is presented to an individual, a former Chair of the PMI Board of Directors, and a member of the PMI-Portland Chapter.

As you may have noticed by now, we have migrated our website and have a new provider and a new look. Many of your board leaders and volunteers worked to make this migration of our services happen. We need to give an extra special thank you to our VP Operations Jimmy Godard and our Newsletter Editor and backup Webmaster Jani Hansen who have worked above and beyond to make this migration happen. Without them, we never would have been able to meet our deadline.

Take a look at the website and send feedback on what is good and what could be improved. You will find a Feedback link on the Home page. You will also want to update your profile if you are interested in Roundtables or the Job Listings. Same URL: www.pmi-portland.org. Visit Soon.

With everything going on with our economy, this holiday season could be less than cheerful for many of our colleagues and neighbors. We will be offering an opportunity for helping the Oregon Food Bank at our December meeting. Our Director of Community Outreach, Rita Jenks is organizing a raffle so come to the December meeting with a few dollars—you may win a nice prize and more importantly you will help a good local cause.

Take care and I hope to see you at our December Dinner Meeting the 16th. Have a Happy Holiday and take care of each other.

Thank You,

Dianne Johnson, PMP

Keynote Presentation

Chapter Meeting

Project Control in an International Environment

The evening's presentation promises to be both informative and entertaining. The program will focus on the similarities and contrasts of performing scope, schedule and budget controls on domestic and international projects, with heavy emphasis on the international aspects. The presentation will be based on personal experiences on multiple very large capital projects on several Continents. It will provide both serious and humorous insights into planning and managing project activities. It will include looking at some of the things that can go very right (as planned) in the execution of design and construction mega-projects, and some things that can go not so right. Join us for an Inside Look at International Project Management!

About our Presenter:

Kenneth O. Hartley, PMP, has 43 years experience in the engineering and construction industry, both in the United States and overseas. He is a seasoned project controls specialist having developed and implemented scheduling, cost control, estimating and management reporting systems for several large, multidisciplinary projects in over 20 countries. Ken is currently serving as the Program Manager on a major consulting assignment for the Washington State Department of Transportation on the largest capital construction program ($16 Billion) ever undertaken by the Agency. The assignment includes three projects – development of and assistance in implementation of strategic plan for managing the program; developing and implementing a Project Management Academy for enhancing project management skills for WSDOT staff; and designing, deployment and training of staff on an integrated project management and reporting system for the Agency. Since joining PMI in 1974, Ken has been active in both chapter and global level activities. He is a PMI Fellow, PMI's highest and most prestigious award that is presented to an individual, a former Chair of the PMI Board of Directors, and a member of the PMI-Portland Chapter. Educational Presentation Chapter Meeting

From Chaos to Control:
Settling the Noise in the Hall

Politics. In-fighting. Distrust. When crisis hits your projects, are you prepared? What should be the greatest opportunity for team unity and accomplishment is often turned into a circular firing squad. From his time as director of public relations and new media at Apollo Group, Pete Wright has seen the highs and lows of project crisis response, and offers key strategies for ensuring your teams remain in tact, focused, and successful during crisis situations.

About our Presenter:

Pete Wright is a Storyteller. As a marketing and media consultant, he helps organizations find their stories, craft them, and share them with the public in new and engaging ways. Pete is a rabid proponent of social media and a regular speaker on engaging teams through interactivity online. He teaches marketing and public relations in the MBA program at Marylhurst University, is a regular podcaster, and has eaten a live octopus. Join us for an interactive and fun presentation!

Volunteer News

We value our volunteers! The continued success of the Portland chapter is a reflection of the time and commitment of our many volunteers.

We acknowledge and thank our members Amy Deters-Long, Sarabjeet Waraich, Brad Foster, and Brian Addington who have volunteered their time again at the chapter dinner meeting. We would also like to recognize Erik Odegard, our photographer, who diligently captures the faces and special moments during dinner and Rick Nobleman who has contributed his editing skills.

We have volunteer opportunities that fit your specific schedule, interests, and talents. Check our website (www.pmi-portland.org) to get more information and sign up -- or simply email volunteer@pmi-portland.org. Also, feel free to visit us at the membership table during our chapter dinner meetings to discuss your unique interests. Members of the volunteer pool will be the first to learn about new volunteer opportunities and will get the first chance to sign up.

We currently have two Academic Outreach positions - A School Liaison and School Presenters/ Facilitators. These positions will support both the Academic Outreach programs and the Excellence in Project Management Student Award.
